CHR Solutions Hires Two New Business Development Directors

HOUSTON (August 12, 2008) – CHR Solutions, Inc., a leading provider of telecommunications engineering services and information technology (IT) managed services, announced it has hired two new business development directors.

Dean Day, based in Nashville, Tenn., will cover telecommunications companies in the Southeastern portion of the United States, stretching from Arkansas/Louisiana in the west and bounded on the north by Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia, and all other states south and east. Dean has more than 25 years of experience serving telecommunications companies, including telecom equipment sales, at companies including CopperCom, Inc., Movaz Networks, and Nortel Networks.

Based in Houston, Shea Hatcher will focus on expanding CHR's IT managed services client base in the greater Houston area. These services cover basic business technology services such as networks, servers and PC support, as well as increasing IT effectiveness and streamlining business processes utilizing CHR's business consulting and business applications practices. Shea has spent the past several years selling similar services and has more than 10 years of sales experience overall.

CHR's vision is to grow within the next five years into a $100 million IT/telecom infrastructure services company providing infrastructure managed services, business process outsourcing, and consulting and engineering services. It focuses on serving middle-market companies in the telecom, energy and bank/financial services verticals leveraging local and global delivery models. CHR expects to grow revenues through a combination of organic growth, cross-selling services, and strategic acquisitions.
